

Proof Coins

A proof coin is a coin struck by the mint using a special, high-quality minting process. Unlike typical gold and silver coins, proof coins are struck at least twice, giving them a brilliant, mirror like finish. Also, the dies used when minting proof coins have been specially polished and treated.

The production of proof coins is typically limited, and the additional effort and attention to detail that goes into minting them makes them highly sought after by investors and collectors alike.
